Luxury complementary chalet in Val d'isere

A fabulous new addition for the winter of 14/15. Perched on the cliffs overlooking the Isère river gorge, this newly constructed chalet has a unique location. Michel Covarel has designed a beautiful chalet which has a super-luxurious feel in a great location. The interiors are simply stunning; the chalet is set over four floors and features a large open plan living and dining room on the upper floor. Below are five en-suite bedrooms, one of which is built directly into the rock face of the river. On the lowest floor you will find a stylish pool and hammam. Only 150m from the Le Fornet cable car and you can ski back to the door via the blue Mangard ski run.

Situated beautifully next to her sister chalet, Rive Gauche, you enter the reception area and ski room where you will find a simple place for ski storage and all important boot warmers. There is also a master en-suite bedroom with king/twin beds and a wrap around balcony on this level. Moving down a level you will find three large king/twin rooms, each with their own personality and style; one contains an antique carved door headboard and the rock face of the chalet that runs along the inside of the room. Heading down again to the lowest level you will find a private bedroom with stunning views of the old bridge and a small terrace. You will also find an indoor pool with a flow machine and a relaxing steam room. The highest floor of the chalet contains the large open plan living and dining area. With a trio aspect there is huge amounts of light that floods into this floor. The reclaimed wood table seats ten and there is also a card and games table for four. The log fireplace is a central focus for the room and there is a large flat screen television for catching up on sporting events or just watching a movie.
